

Home Builders First to Feel Tight Money

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Builders of homes contend they're the first victims of tight money. Consumers who buy on the installment plan might be the second. And some businessmen say they're worried lest their plans for expansion be cramped.

But supporters of the policy to fight inflation by holding a tighter rein on credit doubt if there'll be any great or lasting deterrent in the plans of many now regarded as possible victims.

The theory is that tight credit in itself isn't the sole cause for the home building downturn. Nor does today's moderate curb on credit seem likely to inhibit consumer spending or business plans. Other factors usually weigh much more with consumers and corporate directors than does the amount of interest charges. And if credit is tight, many have savings or other assets upon which to draw.

But even the staunchest defenders of monetary restraint don't deny that someone is likely to get hurt.

And home builders have the statistics right now that seems to back their contentions that their industry is suffering.

The Commerce Department says that in May, when money was noticeably tightening, the starting of new homes dropped by 13 per cent. This brought it to the lowest rate since January 1963.

The housing industry had been having its troubles for at least two years, with only an occasional upswing that turned out to be temporary. It still expects another push upward when the big crop of postwar babies marries, starts families — and commands the income to pay for new homes, however humble. Some in the industry had felt that the big postwar demand for housing had been met and that the last two years of quiet was only a normal prelude to the expected pickup in the next few years.

What is worrying some of the public is whether all the talk about tight money and maybe higher taxes to beat inflation really means that the economy is in danger. Put specifically, they're wondering about their jobs, their paychecks, and about all the uncertainties which the speedup in the Viet Nam war implies.

The stock market's hesitancy also probably deters as many people from taking on new financial obligations as does any tightness in money and credit.

The monetary authorities wouldn't have put the moderately tighter money policy into effect if they hadn't wanted it to choke off some of the more risky loans, and to cool down some of the speculative fever.

But they still say it shouldn't cause any real slump in consumer spending or any but a temporary crimp in business expansion plans.

Confidence Vote in Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — Leaders of the ruling Christian Democratic party gave Deputy Chairman Rainer Barzel a vote of confidence Monday but did not endorse his suggestion for a unification settlement allowing Soviet troops to remain in a reunified Germany.

Party leaders said in a communique that Moscow's unfavorable response to Barzel's statement in Washington last week showed that German reunification was being impeded by Soviet disinclination.

Dallas' Kennedy Memorial Delayed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Construction of the John F. Kennedy Memorial, covering a city block in downtown Dallas, is being delayed by county officials to consider adding an underground parking lot.

Work of clearing old buildings from the site, located about two blocks from the spot where President Kennedy was assassinated in November, 1963, was completed last week.

The county's architects were instructed by County Judge Lew Sterett Tuesday to meet with the designers of the memorial to work out a palatable design for the memorial and the underground garage.

Paul Revere was a highly skilled silversmith.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Example of how one thing can lead to another: writer Richard Warren Lewis accepted a magazine assignment and found himself a wife.

It started last month when Lewis was delegated by T.V. Guide to write an article on "The Dating Game," a daytime show on ABC Television. The gimmick of the show is to present a single man or woman with three possibilities for dates. By interrogation — but without seeing the three prospects — the contestant picks the likeliest date.

Lewis selected actress Joan Patrick. Twelve days later they were engaged. They plan to marry Aug. 27.

Still stunned by the sequence of events, they explained how it happened. Miss Patrick is 27, a Windsor, Ont., girl who was once Miss Canada; in recent times she has appeared on television and plays. Lewis, 33, a New Yorker who was born in Bellow's Falls, Vt., has been a successful magazine writer.

"When I was assigned to story on 'The Dating Game,' I thought I might get a different approach by appearing on the show myself," he said. "I was one of three possibilities for a girl singer to date. She chose one of the others, and I found myself out in the network parking lot with a consolation prize of a bottle of cologne under my arm."

"I felt frustrated, and I wanted to try again, this time as the one seeking a date."

Meanwhile Miss Patrick had come to Hollywood from her New York home for a television film.

"I didn't want to do the show," she recalled, "but my agent said I would be barred from the studio for life if I didn't take the role. So I flew out here, arriving at 4:30 a.m. At 10 that morning, ABC called with an offer to appear on 'The Dating Game.' It had to be fate."

He chose Joan for his date, and they were awarded a dinner at a swank Beverly Hills cafe and an art gallery opening. They were to spend the evening together two weeks after the show, but he asked for a date that night.

Twelve days later he inquired: "What would your reaction be if I asked you to marry me?" She suggested he try it; he did; she accepted.

Lovely Wedding, Children Said

DETROIT (AP) — It was a lovely wedding. All the bride's children thought so. So did the bridegroom's.

All 100 of them felt just fine about Julie Ann Argy and Wilbert O'Brien Hiller being married. Miss Argy, a kindergarten teacher, and Hiller, a fourth-grade teacher, both at the Consolidated Murhan School in Warren, Mich., near Detroit, took the step Sunday after a two-year romance. They invited all their present pupils and some of last year's to witness the ceremony.

Christine, 24, and her husband, James Levermore, 25, an engineer, separated three months after their marriage last October but her mother said: "They got together again a couple of months ago and seem very happy."

They reside in a bungalow in Berkshire.

Miss Keeler to Have 2nd Child

LONDON (AP) — Christine Keeler, central figure in a sex and security scandal that rocked the British government in 1963, is expecting a baby next month, it was reported Sunday.

Christine, 24, and her husband, James Levermore, 25, an engineer, separated three months after their marriage last October but her mother said: "They got together again a couple of months ago and seem very happy."

HELEN HELP US!

— by Helen Bottel —

How To Discourage A Teenage Marriage

Dear Helen: Please give me some advice on how to discourage a teenage marriage. Surely there must be some power of persuasion left in this world. People say, "You can't fight love — no matter what you say they'll get married, or worse, so don't say anything you will regret."

I have tried everything from prayer to soothsayers to convince my 18-year-old son that the girl he thinks is the only one for him today may not be the one for him tomorrow. However it seems that parents of girls encourage their daughters to grow up too soon, and have nothing for their goals but marriage, even if to an immature boy who cannot yet care for himself.

The son I thought I'd raised with sense and a good portion of love (both ways) now says, "You can't live my life for me."

Frankly, I don't think a parent can give up all responsibility for an under-age son, knowing he will blight his life, miss college become bitter about it when he learns he has been hooked.

I sometimes wonder what would happen if the tables were turned: Wouldn't a son interfere if he saw his mother about to embark on a second marriage that was obviously wrong?

Maybe some of your readers will give me little hope or advice too. — Almost Given Up

Dear A. G. U.: You have 3 choices: You can forbid the marriage until your son reaches legal age — this is your right, under the law.

You can say, "Go ahead, but don't expect any help whatsoever from me—from now on you're adult and completely on your own." (Which will hold only until the first financial upset, like the landlord's, or Junior's knock).

Or you can "understand" but ask for a six months waiting period, so that jobs, housing, schooling, etc., can be settled. In six months the two will hopefully talk themselves out of the idea, especially when the learn to view marriage in terms of a laborer's time clock, a diary apartment in the low-rent district, and all those irritating habits they never noticed during the first glow of romance.—H. P.S. Suggestions, anyone? — H.

Dear Helen: I was away for a week, visiting my mother. My husband managed the house & the kids which was just wonderful of him, but now he thinks he knows it all, just because nothing horrible went wrong. What do you say to a man who everytime I mop, dry a dish, etc., etc., gets a supercilious look on his mug and says, "That is not the way I did it!" —Ready to Hit Him

Dear Ready: Why don't you hand him the mop, dish towel, etc., etc., and say, "Lots of Luck!" —H.

Ralston Faces Challenge From Russian

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Dennis Ralston, top American hope for the Wimbledon title, faced the growing challenge of Russian tennis today.

The Bakersfield, Calif., star seeded No. 6, was paired against Alexander Metreveli, the Soviet No. 1, in the second round — and he agreed it was no pushover.

"This boy can play," Ralston said. "No sensible man could fail to respect the Russians these days."

Metreveli, 22-year-old journalistic student at Tbilisi University, is the most finished product of the Russian drive to get a foothold in world tennis. For two straight years he has reached the third round at Wimbledon.

It is just seven years since the Russians decided to promote tennis as a serious sport for the Soviet people.

Russian players won both boys' and girls' junior titles at Wimbledon last year. He Russians are out to do the same again this time, with two 17-year-olds challenging the cream of the world's teen-agers — Vladimir Korotkov and Rosa Ivanova.

Roy Emerson of Australia, tilting for his third straight Wimbledon title, has an old score to settle against Wilhelm Bungert, the tall and elegant German. Bungert was the last man to defeat Emerson at Wimbledon — in the quarter-finals of 1963.

Clark Graebner of Beachwood, O., who is seeded No. 1, faced the Australian left-hander, Owen Davidson.

Tony Roche, the Australian who is seeded No. 2, took his place in today's round despite an injured left ankle. He defeated Ted Beards of Britain 6-2, 6-4, 6-4 Tuesday in the first round after being granted a 24-hour postponement.

The women's singles got under way Tuesday and the eight seeds all successfully cleared their first hurdles. But Nancy Richey, the U.S. Wightman Cup star from Dallas, Tex., survived a shaky start before overcoming Fay Toyne of Australia 1-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Her Wightman Cup costar, Mrs. Billie Jean Moffitt King of Long Beach, Calif., overcame a long, grim second set to defeat 19-year-old Winnie Shaw, the rising Scots star, 6-2, 8-6, Billie

Robinson's Catch Saves Orioles

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Baltimore Orioles made Frank Robinson the catch of the year. Now Robinson has made the catch of the year for the Orioles.

The American League's top slugger turned spectacular outfielder Tuesday night, making a great ninth-inning catch in right field that saved a 7-5 victory for Baltimore over New York in the first game of a doubleheader.

Robinson, who has sparked the Orioles to the top of the league since they acquired him from Cincinnati this past winter, immediately turned into the most unpopular person in Yankee Stadium and was the target of all sorts of debris during the second game which the Yankees won 8-3.

The controversial catch came with two Yankees on base and two out. Roy White lofted a fly to deep right field, Robinson raced back to the 3 1/2-foot fence, leaped high into the air, caught the ball and toppled backward into the box seats in the stands.

Umpire Hank Soar waited a few seconds, then signaled the out, which ended the game. Soar's signal also was the signal for Yankee Manager Ralph Houk to become enraged and race onto the field. He argued in vain, then announced he was protesting the game.

"He didn't keep control of the ball," Houk contended afterward. "He was groping for the ball. I don't know what chance I've got with the protest, but I just hope I can find somebody who has a picture of him lying there without the ball."

Robinson, who ended up with only part of his legs visible from the field, was equally as certain that he held the ball.

Then there was Elston Howard's fly ball in the sixth inning. Robinson caught it near the fence but again had to wrestle himself loose from a fan who reached out and tried to prevent him from making the catch.

In other AL games, Cleveland edged Boston 2-1, Detroit defeated Washington 5-2, Kansas City nipped Chicago 9-8 and California downed Minnesota 10-7.

In the National League, San Francisco outlasted Chicago 9-7, Cincinnati outslugged Pittsburgh 11-8, Houston stopped Los Angeles 7-4, Atlanta defeated Philadelphia 4-1 and New York edged St. Louis 2-1.

Before his controversial fly ball, White made two errors that led to five Baltimore runs in the second inning and hit a two-run homer in the sixth. Eddie Watt pitched 3 2-3 innings of hitless relief until the Yankees had their short-lived rally in the ninth.

First cable communications with France were established on Nov. 15, 1879.

Campaneris Steals Wins for Athletics

By JI MVAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Cam-py Campaneris stole a victory for the Kansas City A's in the last half of the ninth inning Tuesday night — the third time that's happened in four games so comparisons with Maury Wills of Los Angeles were inevitable.

"At his age Camp is way ahead of Wills at the same age," said Alvin Dark, A's manager. "This boy is only 24 and Wills was almost 27 when he came up to the Dodgers in 1959 (after eight seasons in the minors)."

"I don't like to compare ball players directly," Dark said. He didn't want to compare them skill-for-skill, talent-for-talent because the little Dodger shortstop who stole 104 bases in 1962 is much older.

"But if Campy keeps on improving the way I know he can, who knows?"

Campaneris has only 10 stolen bases in his first 53 games compared to his season total of 51 last year which led the American League. But this is deceiving.

The swift little Cuban is making use of his speed more effectively this season in more phases of the game. Against the White Sox Tuesday night, he twice beat out bunts down the third base line, turning in a seldom tried last year.

Kialoa 11 Is Likely to Finish First
HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Kialoa II, a big California aluminum sloop owned by John B. Kilroy of Los Angeles, was reported less than 100 miles off Bermuda Tuesday night and appeared likely to be the first to finish the 635-mile ocean yacht race from Newport, R.I., to Bermuda.

The Kilroy sloop, which won Class A honors last year in the Los Angeles to Honolulu race, was reported by the Coast Guard cutter, Campbell, and the U. S. S. destroyer Norris as less than 100 miles from the finish at 6 p.m. She was expected to finish about noon Wednesday.

Some 20 miles behind Kialoa in calm seas, visibility of ten miles and winds westerly at 11 knots, were reported Good News, owned by Jakob Isbrandtsen of Riverside, Conn., Paiawan, Germanian VII and Bolero. Audacious, owned by Baldwin M. Baldwin of Newport Beach, Calif., and Tara also were reported among the leaders.

Redlegs Rally to Win Over Pirates 11-8

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Deron Johnson never would make it as a railroad engineer in Cincinnati.

When the railroad engineers learned that Pittsburgh would be in town Tuesday night, they arranged a pleasant little reception. Johnson ruined the party with some lusty hitting that was hardly hospitable.

It's been 20 years or so since Pittsburgh was bothered by smoke but it was just like old times for a few minutes in Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Midway through the first inning of the Reds' 11-8 victory over the Pirates, the engineers and a friendly little breeze combined to float a cloud of black smoke into Crosley Field.

That touch of oldtime atmosphere was the last friendly gesture Cincinnati made all night once Johnson went to work.

The Pirates had grabbed a 3-0 lead in the first inning before the smoke from neighboring Union Station began blowing into Crosley Field.

The cloud caused a delay of four minutes while it floated down the first base line, over to the mound and on out to the outfield. The players could hardly see each other and when it finally cleared, the umpires threw a ball to the outfielders to make sure they could see.

When play resumed, the Reds hopped on Woody Fryman for four runs and a lead they never relinquished. Johnson hammered a three-run homer in the second, climaxing a five-run Reds' rally that built a 9-3 lead.

After coming out of the smoke the Pirates pecked away at the lead but never caught up. Johnson added a double and scored two runs in addition to his three RBI.

Elsewhere, New York shaded St. Louis 2-1 on Bob Shaw's four-hitter, Atlanta dropped Philadelphia 4-1, Houston whipped Los Angeles 7-4 and San Francisco downed Chicago 9-7.

Gary Bell Going Good for Indians

By C. C. MCGILLICUDDY
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Gary Bell is pitching better these days as a rejuvenated starter for the Cleveland Indians and the reason for his success is quite simple:

"I'm getting my breaking ball over the plate and the hitters don't know what to make of it."

The 29-year-old Bell, fresh from a 2-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday night, explained that "the hitters have been waiting for my fast ball."

But I've found something new in a breaking pitch that goes over the plate. I guess I've amazed the hitters. They don't know what to do."

The husky right-hander says he likes his startling role and his surprising 7-2 record bears him out.

"I love being a starter. I haven't set any pitching goals for this year. I'm just trying to stay out of the bullpen."

Bell was a starter for the Indians for four years before being exiled to the bullpen where he served another four-year hitch.

It was Bell's slider, low over the outside corner that tied up Boston's power hitters Tuesday night.

"That's the best control I've had with my breaking pitch," he said, noting that he also had a good breaking ball in his last outing — a game the Indians lost to Washington although Bell wasn't around to absorb the loss.

"I really can't explain why the breaking pitch is going over the plate now. I just convinced myself I could do it and it seemed to work."

Would End School Age Restriction

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said Monday that he would sign a petition, if he gets one, to place on the election ballot a proposed constitutional amendment to remove age restrictions for public education.

Faubus said he regarded other proposed amendments as "controversial" and said he did not want to get involved. He predicted defeat for a school consolidation amendment if it reached the ballot.

Other proposals being circulated for signatures call for four-year terms for elected officials, constitutional convention and judicial reform.

Farm Union Has 1st Big Contract

By JOHN LENGEL

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The National Farm Workers Association has its first major contract—a giant stride in the union's drive to organize those who pluck and tend the nation's bountiful crops.

The union and Schenley Industries Inc. signed Tuesday a one-year agreement involving 450 men and women who pick and care for grapes on the company's 3,600-acre vineyard near Delano, in the central California Valley.

At the heart of the agreement is a 35-cent hourly wage increase, raising the Schenley minimum wage to $1.75 an hour. The company also agreed to a union shop and union hiring hall, making the union its prime labor source.

The agreement provides that the company must give the union 72 hours notice of a need for workers. The company is free to hire outsiders if the union fails to provide the workers in that time.

Settlement of fringe benefits was left for further discussion. Dues bookkeeping will be handled by the company if the workers authorize it.

The association struck 33 growers in the Delano area Sept. 8, staged a 25-day, 325-mile march to Sacramento to dramatize its cause, and was well into a boycott of Schenley products when the company agreed to negotiate April 6.

A few days later, the Digiorio Corp., biggest employer in the Delano area, pledged it would negotiate with a union if its workers voted for one. Later Digiorio offered the association a contract, subject to the union's signing a no-strike clause and agreeing to arbitration. The union declined.

Cesar Chavez, director of the union, called the contract with Schenley "a milestone in the history of U.S. agriculture." His assistant, Jim Drake, said Schenley "always has had a good labor policy. We knew they were fair."

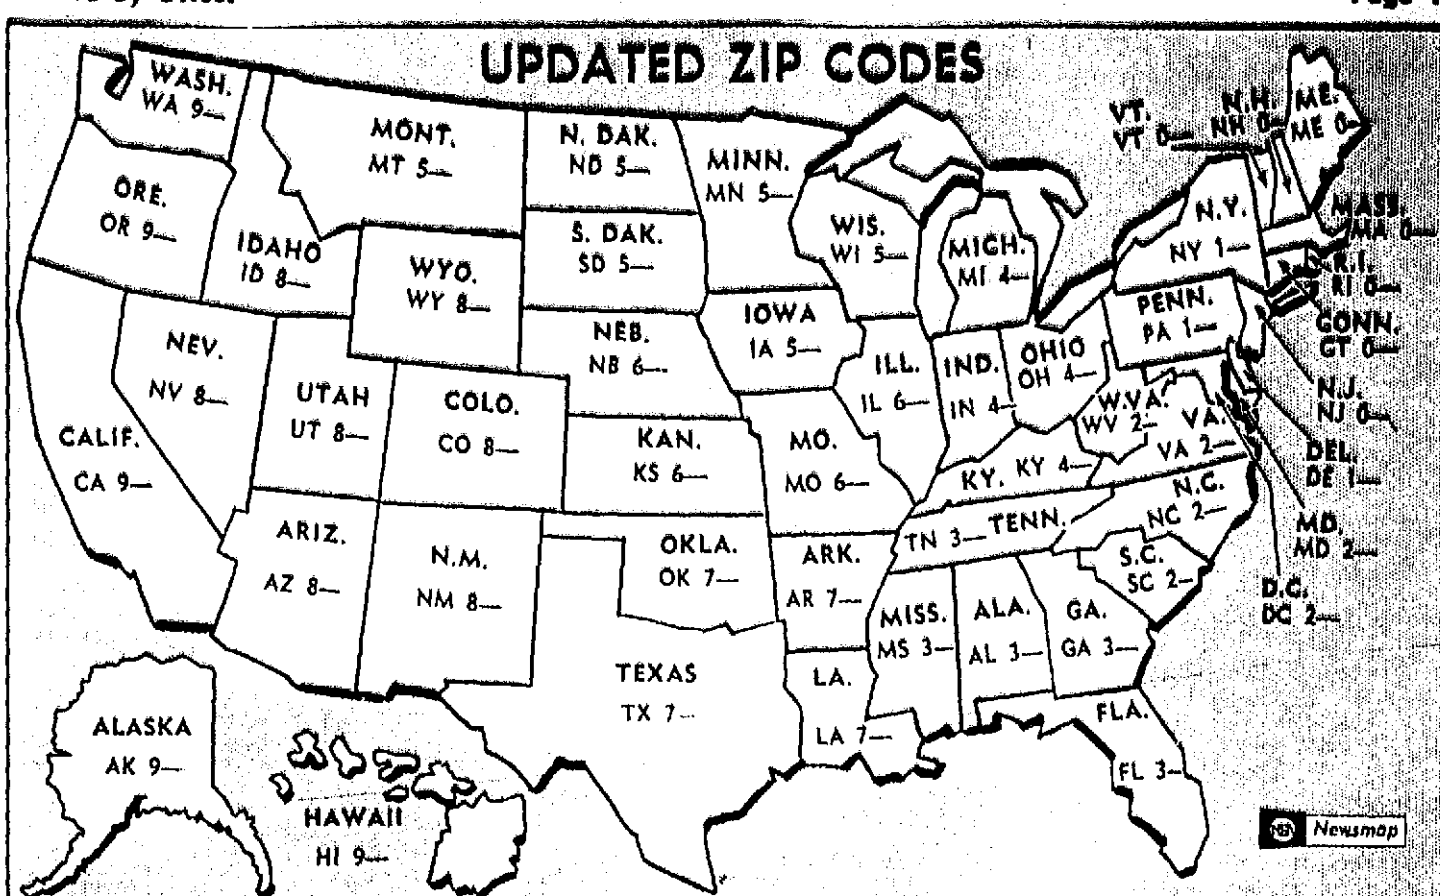

Chavez and Drake see the contract as precedent-setting in dealing with other growers—not only of grapes, but all crops. Another grape grower, Christian Brothers, has recognized the union as bargaining agent.

The union—which is independent but has AFL-CIO support—is also hard at work attempting to organize workers in pears, apples and melons as far north as Yuba City in the central valley.

Union organizes also have called a strike of melon workers in southern Texas.

The Post Office Department is revising the strictly numerical codes in use to date to include two-letter prefixes, different for each state. The letters are to be used only where Zip Code numbers are part of an address, not as abbreviations for states otherwise. Newsmap gives the new letter prefixes for each state plus the first digit of the numeral Zip Code. The remaining digits vary according to locality within the state.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Television took humorist Sam Levenson out of the New York public school system — but show business obviously failed to take the teacher out of Levenson.

Father of a teen-age child, Levenson frets about the relationship of television and school, and winds up being critical of parents, pedagogues and commercial broadcasting.

"In 100 years of free compulsory education we have never prepared most children to be readers and thinkers," Levenson says without his familiar beaming smile. "We have laid a big fat egg in turning out millions of kids who just want to be amused."

Levenson believes that it is essential for the public schools to "teach kids to watch television."

"Why don't all the schools supply the students with 'preferred viewing lists'?" he asked. "Television supplies its own teachers for the children — the ones who want them to buy something. And, to me, the sad truth is that the schools, which have something exciting to sell, don't know how to do it as well as television does."

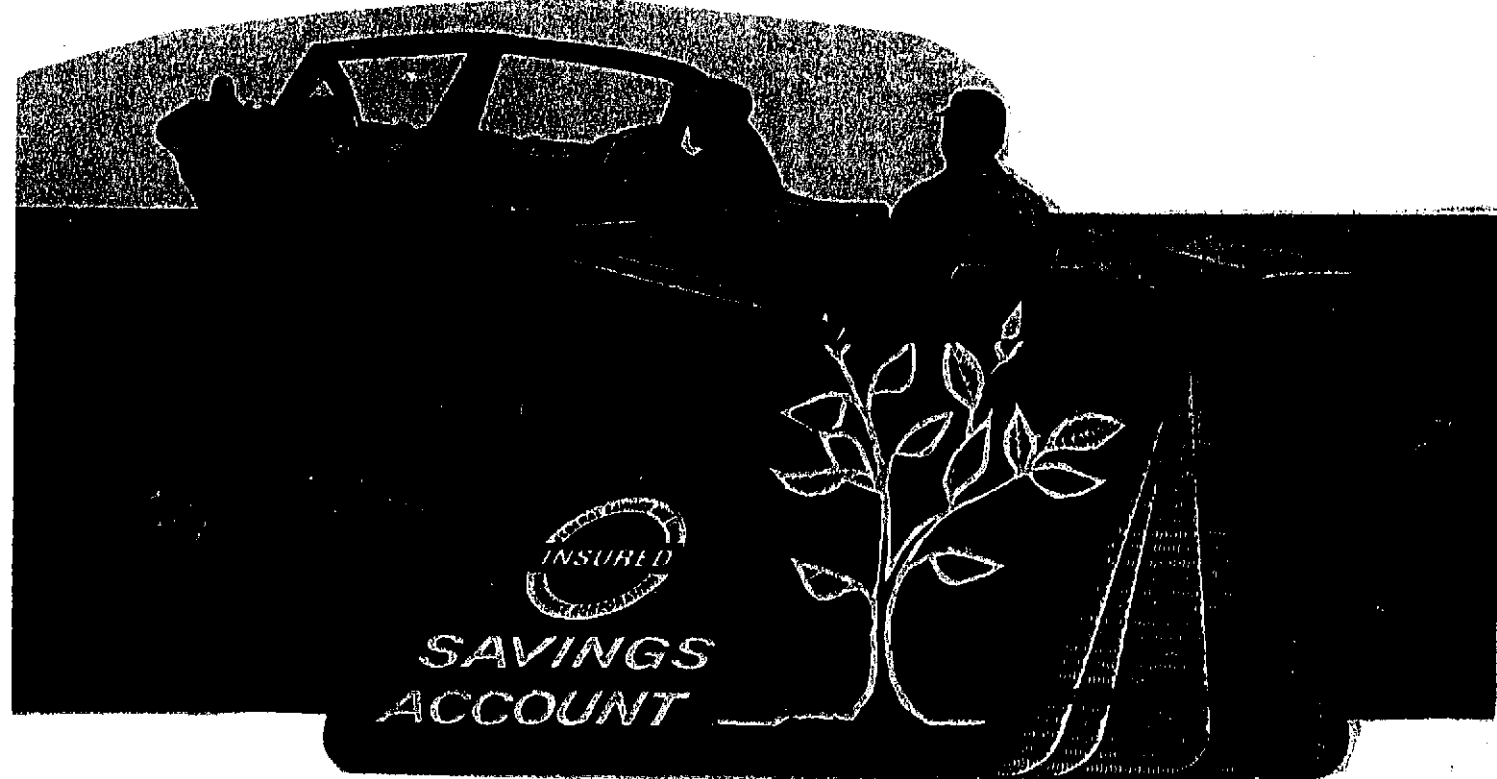

Levenson, surprisingly, does not worry about violence. "I don't think TV breeds violence," he continued with considerable fire. "I think it breeds passivity. When kids see real violence, it seems like something they've seen on a TV screen, and instead of reacting to it they just watch quietly and wait for the commercial, knowing that it will turn out all right in the end with the good guys winning."

The evil in television, as Levenson sees it, is that practically the sole motivation in viewing is amusement. "Does the industry—commercial television—have a right only to amuse?" he asked. "Maybe they have. But on the other hand, I as a father, have the right to refuse to let them educate my children."

Levenson may be disturbed by TV's incidental role in children's education, but the record indicates that the past of elementary school children has grown more sophisticated over a 15 year period.

Fifteen years ago the five favorite programs were "Cruiser Rabbit," "Hopalong Cassidy," "Wild Bill Hickok," "Howdy Doody" and the "Uncle Mistletoe," all designed for the very young.

Rep. J. H. Cottrell of Little Rock said in an interview that he agreed with the President on Vietnam and disagreed with Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., a critic of the administration's Viet Nam policy.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

If in the Tropics, Consider Water Unsafe for Drinking

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When you register at your hotel you should inquire about the safety of the tap water unless you are in the tropics, where you had best assume that it is unsafe for drinking.

Under such circumstances you should stick to commercially bottled and capped water (not bottled by your hotel or restaurant) or you can treat the tap water with Halazone tablets before drinking it. The same applies to water used to rinse your tooth brush.

Beer, wine and hot drinks can be drunk with safety but don't count on the alcohol in your highball to purify the ice cubes. It is best to avoid all drinks, hard or soft, to which ice is added.

If you are taking medicine regularly, you should carry a supply with you but there is no need to carry a medicine chest of drugs you might need. You can get them in the country you are visiting if you find you need them. An identification card containing pertinent medical information about yourself should be carried on your person.

You can find a good doctor who speaks passable English in almost any part of the world but, if you should need a doctor, it is sometimes good economy to place a long-distance call to your family doctor. He may be able to give you the reassurance you need and he can certainly give a foreign doctor you are consulting valuable information which may speed your recovery.

If your medical insurance policy covers the medical care you receive anywhere in the world, you should carry some application blanks for your foreign physician to sign. Don't overdo. This is a great danger if you are on a planned tour. Unless you are very rugged or very young you should select a tour that allows an ample amount of free time because overfatigue is one of the chief causes of illness on a vacation trip.

THE DROP IN CHILDHOOD MORTALITY

A dramatic development in the nation's life-expectancy statistics has been the steady decline in the childhood mortality rate. From 1940 through 1964, death rates for both preschoolers and school-age children dropped sharply, according to the Statistical Bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. In 1940 there were 155 deaths per 100,000 persons aged 1-14. If the same rate had prevailed in 1964, there would have been 88,000 deaths for these ages instead of the 33,000 actually recorded. Remarkable progress in control of childhood's communicable diseases, with polio being virtually wiped out as a death cause, is credited with the decline.

Jim asks: "What do you think of the North-South bidding?"

Oswald: "Very good. North wanted to suggest seven without getting past six clubs. Hence he avoided Blackwood. Where are the East and West hands?"

Jim: "I'm not showing them. How would you handle the heart suit if you were declarer?"

Oswald: "You aren't trying to trap the old man, are you? I wouldn't touch hearts for a long time. I would start by ruffing a spade at trick two. Then I would play my ace of trumps. Do both opponents follow?"

Jim: "Yes, they do."

Oswald: "At this point it doesn't matter where the heart king and jack are. I play a second trump and lead a diamond to dummy's king. Ruff dummy's last spade, go back to dummy with the ace of diamonds and lead the ten of hearts."

Jim: "Of course. This way you have eliminated all spades and diamonds from your hand and dummy and if the ten of hearts isn't covered you can just let it ride. Even if West produces the jack he is helpless to find a return lead that will beat your slam."

Oswald: "If I had to attack the hearts without the elimination play I would plan to lead toward dummy and take it from there. How would I come out?"

Jim: "All right. West held both king and jack but as you have pointed out, there is no reason to overlook a sure thing."

VIET NAM: a view from home

How Are We Ever Going to Get Out?

By TOM TIEDE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Viet Nam, the country of confusion.

It's 10,000 miles from here. An ocean and an entire civilization distant. A slender finger of rain forests surrounded by sharks on two sides and an even more carnivorous predator on a third.

So, why us?

Why are we there?

And how are we ever going to get out?

Americans, like hibernating bears, have stirred from another cozy winter, hungry for answers that today directly affect more than 260,000 United States soldiers and, tomorrow, could affect 100 times that number of people all over the world.

Alas, the answers are more than plentiful.

Everybody seems to have at least one or two.

A lady from the state of Washington suggests that the United States switch its support from Saigon to Hanoi. "With our help," she figures, "North Viet Nam doesn't stand a chance."

A fellow in New Jersey asks that we reorganize the draft laws and call only volunteers from men who have been married at least 10 years. "You should get a load of my wife," he groans. "Viet Nam would be a pleasure."

A California politician says we are spending enough money in the war to cover that entire nation with a solid concrete highway. He thinks, in fact, maybe we should begin construction. "It would cover all the jungle," he says, "and the enemy would have no place left to hide."

And, in New York, hot rodding teen-agers have it solved. They're carrying bumper strips saying: "Send Batman to Saigon."

To be sure, it's not the solutions we're shy of. It's the problems most of us can't seem to grasp. Unfortunately, the biggest problem in Southeast Asia is that the more clearly one sees the problem, the less clearly he sees the answer.

For example: the problem of the people.

Our job has been, is now, and will be, to make favorable contact with the people. Win them over. Convince them that the Communists are their enemies and that we are their friends.

This accomplished we would have a valuable ally. In fact, an absolutely essential one in this kind of war. A man whose simple eyewitness intelligence can color the entire combat situation.

So, the problem is to make friends.

And we give it a good go. We give food. We spend money. We put small children on their heads. We provide medical facilities where none before existed, we build schools where none before stood, we establish homes of brick where before grew huts of thatch and dung.

And soon they should befriend us.

Only usually they don't.

They don't because, for one thing, we are foreigners, larger, louder and lighter-skinned than they. The Communists, on the other hand, are they themselves—relatives, merchants, even officials whom the peasants have known and trusted since infancy.

SPOILS OF WAR—The man is a Viet Cong prisoner. The woman is his wife. The child is dead.

They don't, for another thing, because we come with guns and gifts and we, by necessity, stay for only short times. But the Communists have stayed for over two decades.

They don't because they are ignorant and impoverished and frightened half-mad from seeing their families slain on land that hasn't known peace for entire lifetimes.

They don't befriend us for a score of other reasons. Most of them good. But, primarily, they don't befriend us because they have heard all our talk before, the promises, the visions of a new life, the guarantees of hope and a better tomorrow.

The Chinese, the Japanese, the French. They promised, also.

It never worked then. Why now?

Thus, they don't befriend us because they don't believe us. They don't think we have the answer. Indeed, they don't think there is an answer.

And that is the problem.

One of them, anyway.

The Enemy

NEW YORK—(NEA)—There are about 250,000 old and young in Viet Nam who daily dream of murdering a soldier from the United States of America.

They are miniature people, covered in soiled rags and infested with enormous open sores on skins that have cracked like shoe leather from lack of nutrition and soap.

They are born with two woeful possessions, ignorance and poverty. Before they die they acquire one other. Despair.

They are pitiful but vicious, these people.

They are the enemy in this war.

We call them the Viet Cong, an abbreviation of "Viet Cong San," which, roughly translated, means "the tribe of Communists." But the label fits only a portion of the enemy. Most are not Communists, have no conception of the ideology and harbor no strong political feeling of any intellectual nature.

Yet in the name of communism they kill 15 of us a day. In the same name they forfeit nine of their own lives hourly.

Why? There is no full answer. But part of what answer there is lies in further description of the enemy themselves—thick haired, thin-limbed people who may be as old as 70 or 80 or as young as 7 or 8.

Their lives are brief and unhappy. Their country's diet and diseases, parasites and pollutions combine to kill the greater number of them by the time they are 35.

One of every two of them dies before he is 5 years of age. Each of the others faces a lifetime of maladies: hair loss, crossed eyes, feet pointing the wrong way, joints that bend back and forth, typhus, typhoid, cholera, amoebic dysentery and infectious hepatitis.

And for the ailing there are few cures, one doctor for every 160,000 patients and not enough money to purchase whatever remedy is available.

They work harder to accomplish less, these people, because in the year 1966 their economic and technological progress is anemic and their living conditions are two centuries behind the times.

They are stagnant water, the enemy. They go nowhere of meaning, do nothing of consequence. Their voices are not listened to, their thoughts left to seed, their persons completely ignored.

Indeed, no one cares whether they live or die. Except, they believe, the Communists.

At least the Communists say they care—and for those grasping for straws it is too often enough of a promise. So if they are asked, they listen. And though they may or may not see the logic, they see the dream. And when lies are told, few care; even impractical hope is better than nothing at all.

Thus when they are asked, they fight for that hope. Crossbows against jets, if need be. Homemade knives against the richest armies of history. Cruelty, savagery and hate against a GI who has never before been defeated in war.

The odds are impossible. They can't win. Yet they refuse to lose, because surrender is abandoning hope and quitting is accepting despair.

So they are a baffling and deadly adversary. And in war we must, unfortunately, kill them.

But killing is not the final answer. It is at best a stop-gap solution. There are forever others to take the place of the dead.

The eventual path to peace in Viet Nam is not in destroying the Viet Cong, but in destroying the conditions that fret about our enemy's problems. But such it is. And with reason. For there is only one way for our side to win in Viet Nam . . .

And that is to let the other side win something also.

thoughts

"It is he who made the earth by his power, who established the world by his wisdom, and by his understanding stretched out the heavens."—Jeremiah 51:15.

It is by the goodness of God that in our country we have those three unspeakably precious things: freedom of speech, freedom of conscience, and the prudence never to practice either.—Mark Twain, American humorist.

The 'Too Unbuttoned' Generation great deal of hubbub, both pro and con, is being made these days over changing attitudes toward sexual morality on college campuses, and it leaves many, both young and old, with a sense of confusion. Young people seemingly have discarded many of the established standards of conduct to which their parents and grandparents adhered.

In view of this confusion, it strikes us that the words of a California educator addressed to his students are eminently sound. He is Page Price, provost at the University of California's new Cowell College, and in a memo to students he observed: "We have become rather too unbuttoned." Kissing and caressing are "properly a private matter" not to be practiced "in the classrooms, lecture hall, chow line, or wherever there are people who might be embarrassed by such a display." He noted also that the "careless or carefree sexual use of a woman is simply exploitative" and he cautioned co-eds that a woman, through promiscuity, "trivializes and degrades her deepest self."

As for the bewhiskered, carelessly attired type of student which so astounds those of us who admire personal neatness, Price said: "I am aware that for many students an aggressively untidy appearance is a matter of principle, a personal statement about the world, a valued style. . . but, like everything else, it can be carried too far. . . . Even if state law did not require shoes in dining places, unsightly feet would be inappropriate."

His words reflect an admirable understanding and tolerance of youthful behavior which is a mark of an educated man. That is all the more reason why young people should heed his advice. Indeed, his is a plea for respect for standards of personal conduct which have served civilization well for generations. — Houston (Tex.) Chronicle

Death Sentence After 17 Years

TAIPEI, FORMOSA (AP) — Chang Chin-lung, 50, was sentenced to death Monday for a murder committed in Mainland China 17 years ago.

A brother of the victim spotted Chang on a street last year and reported him to the police. Testimony at the trial brought out that Chang, an army enlistment man, bayoneted Sung Chichiang to death in June 1949 because he was in love with Sung's wife.

The woman testified that she had never dared expose Chang for fear he would kill her.

Ex-Mrs. Oswald Is Expecting

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The former Marina Oswald, 24, is expecting her third child, and her first from her present marriage to Kenneth J. Porter.

The widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, named by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy, and Porter, 28, were married June 1, 1965.

Oswald, who was shot to death by night club operator Jack Ruby while in custody of the Dallas police left two children, June and Rachel.

Free Falls 57,000 Feet. Critical

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Nick Piantanida, the sky diver who survived a 57,000-foot descent without oxygen, has been transferred from Hennepin County General Hospital here to the National Institutes of Health at Bethesda, Md. He remains in serious condition. He has been in what doctors call a "waking coma" since his oxygen supply was cut in an unexplained accident as he tried for a world free-fall record May 1.

China Ousts Another One

TOKYO (AP) — Red China announced today the ouster of another local party leader in its continuing purge of those who oppose the teachings of Communist chief Mao Tse-tung.

The latest victim is Chang Wen Sung, head of the Peking Communist party committee's education department.

House Opens Hearing on Military Draft

By WILBUR MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said today it is an illusion to believe that a lottery method could solve any problems of the system of drafting youths for military service.

He said the gravest weakness of such a system would be "the substitution of chance for judgment."

Hershey was the first witness as the House Armed Services Committee opened hearings on how the Selective Service System is operating. Committee Chairman L. Mendell Rivers, D-S.C., has described the Selective Service as an "unpleasant fact of life that can not be wished away."

Both Rivers and Hershey had prepared statements to read at the opening hearing which started before a standing-room only crowd liberally sprinkled with college students.

Rivers, in his opening remarks, raised the possibility of lowering the upper limit of direct draft liability from the present 26. Men who get deferments now remain liable for service up to 35 but few over 26 get called.

In a statement prepared for the start of today's hearing, Rivers said the committee must determine whether the draft law is functioning as Congress intended or whether it needs substantial revision.

The South Carolina Democrat added: "The facts appear abundantly clear — we do need a draft law for now and the foreseeable future."

Hershey's testimony could have a bearing on whether there will be a later, full scale investigation of the Selective Service System.

"If it looks like the draft needs an investigation, we'll make it," Rivers said.

Rivers acknowledged there have been complaints about the draft's operation. He said he hoped Hershey could answer them.

Some of these he cited as: One local board defers a college student indefinitely, while another board terminates the deferment from completion of the academic year.

No nationwide regulation on part time students.

High school dropouts must score higher on tests than high school graduates to be accepted.

"This obviously encourages high school dropouts," Rivers commented.

The chairman warned "No law . . . can endure if it does not, in the last analysis, have the sanction and support of a majority of the people."

Congressional critics contend the draft discriminates against the poor and uneducated. They charge that the affluent who can afford to go to college are deferred.

Some members of Congress have suggested that other types of national service, such as the Peace Corps, be allowed as an alternative to the draft.

Mississippi March Marked by Gunfire

By DON MCKEE

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Highway patrolmen sealed off a small Negro neighborhood early today after Negroes and whites exchanged gunfire in Philadelphia. One white man was wounded late Tuesday night.

The gun battles erupted here as civil rights leaders 75 miles away debated the merits of violence and nonviolence when they returned to Philadelphia as part of the Mississippi march.

Philadelphia Police Chief Bruce Latimer said a white man whom he identified as Stanley Stuart, an employee of a glove factory, was wounded during an exchange of gunfire near the Freedom Democratic party headquarters.

Stuart was treated for buckshot wounds in the neck and shoulder at a hospital here and sent home.

The highway patrol moved in and blocked off a three or four block area.

"No one's going in or coming out until daylight," said Inspector Maynard King.

Hundreds of Negroes rioted early today, throwing rocks and bottles at police, stores and cars before riot police cleared the streets with billy clubs and the threat of tear gas.

Two cars were overturned, one was set fire, and three or four policemen hurt by flying glass, one officer said.

Debris littered the main street in the Negro district from sidewalk to sidewalk, but the overall damage apparently was light.

Display windows at two stores were smashed, and there were three reports of homes being looted.

Police arrested 24 Negroes.

The riot in this city of 16,000 about 25 miles north of Miami lasted less than an hour.

It apparently was the culmination of tension built up Tuesday when reports spread through the Negro district that a white store owner had slapped a 10-year-old Negro boy.

The store owner, Arthur M. Marks, 42, was charged with assault and battery and released on $50 bond. The boy was unidentified.

Democrats Ask Property Tax Overhaul

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Democrats for Arkansas called Tuesday for a thorough overhaul of the property tax in Arkansas to bring up assessments and, as a result, develop a first-class school system.

This was one of the recommendations in two DFA position papers, one on taxes and the other on election reforms.

Dr. H. D. Luck of Arkadelphia, DFA chairman, said the group would release position papers on other governmental matters during the next few weeks.

The election reform paper called for statewide use of voting machines, mandatory time off for employees to register to vote and scheduling elections for Saturday or Sunday or declaring election day a holiday to facilitate voting.

Luck said DFA's most immediate concern is that the state Board of Election Commissioners actively supervise operation of the new voter registration system.

Murder Is Charged in Pirate Case

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON (AP) — A leading British politician-businessman was charged with murder today after the operator of a pirate radio station was found slain in his home.

The dead man's pop music station off the southeast coast in the Thames estuary meanwhile was occupied by a mysterious band of raiders who silenced it.

Maj. William Oliver Smedley, former vice president of the Liberal party and a pirate radio tycoon, was charged with murder in a special court.

The dead man was Reg Calvert, 37, who ran Radio City, a pop station operating from an abandoned aircraft carrier on Shivering Sands, 12 miles off the coast.

The shooting came shortly after disclosure that an unidentified boarding party had taken over the station.

Police gave no indication whether there was any direct link between the raid and shooting.

Fell 14 Floors and Will Recover

CHICAGO (AP) — Renardo Coleman, 14, was sitting at the 12th-floor window of his family's apartment March 23 when he lost his balance.

He survived the fall but suffered fractures of the left wrist and both legs, a lacerated liver and left lung and a ruptured spleen.

After surgery Renardo was transferred to Schwab Rehabilitation Hospital, his right arm paralyzed and both legs in casts.

But he recovered enough to resume his studies and Monday James P. Maloney, principal of William McKinley Upper Grade Center, presented Renardo his diploma.

Promises to Increase Incomes

At a breakfast here this morning at Diamond Cafe gubernatorial Candidate Brooks Hays told local backers the most serious problem in Arkansas today is the low level of income of most of our people.

Citing figures that 37 per cent of the people live in households with less than $2,500 a year income in Arkansas, Hays praised the Federal Poverty Program but said it did not get at the heart of local problem.

There is no shortage of jobs requiring extra skills and high levels of education in Arkansas but there is a shortage of workers to fill those jobs, he said. He named the shortage of registered nurses, teachers with special training, social workers or librarians to staff them, restaurant workers, caterers, hotel managers and various technicians.

"If elected governor, I plan to make a frontal attack on this problem of developing our human resources more fully for the better jobs which will be available as our economy expands," Mr. Hays said.

"My goal will be to raise the overall income by 20 per cent or a million dollars a week with this Manpower Utilization Program," he said.

Resignation Not Part of CIA Hearing

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The switch in the Central Intelligence Agency leadership was no covert skulduggery to try to head off a Senate clash over supervision of the spy agency, senators involved in the dispute said today.

William F. Raborn's resignation as CIA director did not change the picture nor was it an attempt to save any wounded Senate feelings, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said.

"It had nothing to do with the hassle up here," Mansfield said in an interview.

"It was not involved," Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said.

"The dispute is not over the CIA but over the Senate supervision of it."

Further, Mansfield said, Fulbright's Senate Foreign Relations Committee may introduce today its resolution to revamp the Senate supervision of the big intelligence agency.

This, he said, would set the stage for fireworks after the Senate's July 4 holiday week.

The battle is over the Foreign Relations Committee's attempt to put three of its members on the exclusive seven-man CIA panel headed by Sen. Richard B. Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Russell has called it an attempt to muscle in.

Raborn's resignation was announced Saturday by President Johnson. The President nominated Richard M. Helms, the agency's No. 2 man, to succeed Raborn as director.

Crippled Navy Jet Downs MIG Fighter

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Navy pilot flying a jet fighter crippled by enemy fire and running critically low on fuel shot down a Communist MIG7 jet over North Viet Nam Tuesday.

One other MIG was damaged and possibly destroyed as four Navy F8 Crusaders and four MIG17s tangled 65 miles northeast of Hanoi. But the MIG's shot down on a Crusader, and ground fire brought down a Navy photo-reconnaissance plane in the same area.

In all, five American planes were reported lost in the past 24 hours in Viet Nam. The others were an Air Force F105 Thunderchief shot down Tuesday 30 miles northeast of Hanoi, an Air Force 100 Supra hit by Viet Cong groundfire 75 miles southwest of Saigon today and a C123 transport downed on a defoliation mission over the South Tuesday.

The crews of both planes lost in South Viet Nam were rescued.

Faubus Looks Into Hikes in Insurance

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus, saying public dissatisfaction with the State Insurance Department could lead to requests for federal insurance, promised Tuesday night to try to straighten out the agency before he leaves office.

"I'm going to provide the Insurance Department with some of the things it needs," he said, explaining that he meant more and better trained employees to police the complex insurance industry.

Insurance was the main topic on a 30-minute "Face the State" television program with the governor.

He has called for public hearings on a recent 21.2 per cent increase in automobile liability rates and on his recent charge that premiums on some other that premiums on some 26.3 per cent too high.

Faubus conceded that part of the insurance problem is due to personnel in the Insurance Department, and that since he appointed Commissioner Harvey Combs, part of the blame devolved on him.

"Truth is truth," Faubus said, "where ever it strikes."

Faubus predicted that one of the first actions the 1967 Legislature will take is to repeal a law which allows insurance rate increases to be put into effect without a hearing.

U.S. Feels War Tide Is Favorable

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. commanders are guardedly confident that the tide of war in Viet Nam is running in favor of the allies.

They feel they can smash a Communist monsoon offensive if there is one.

Their optimism stems largely from military successes of the past three months, a time when South Viet Nam was wracked with political turmoil and crack Vietnamese fighting units were pulled out of its elite.

But some observers contend that American commanders are making the same mistake the French made before their defeat here in 1954. They say the French thought they could win if the Viet Minh fought on French terms, but the Communists pursued their own form of guerrilla fighting in a war that was as much political as military.

The guarded U.S. optimism stems from these factors:

1. The United States and its allies have clearly seized the initiative and are seeking out the enemy in ever-increasing offensives. In one recent week allied operations reached a record high of 39 search-and-seizure sweeps by 1,000 troops or more. Of these, U. S. forces launched 25.

Experts to Study Crime Rate Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Experts put their heads together today in search of space-age methods to combat the nation's swelling crime rate.

Some 500 educators, industry experts and law enforcement officials have been invited to a first-of-its-kind "national symposium on science and criminal justice."

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, cosponsor of the conference, said its purpose is "to give science a clear view of what new tools and techniques are needed in the national effort to improve the control of the crime."

The ideas generated in the two-day assembly at the State Department probably will be scrutinized by the National Crime Commission, of which Katzenbach is chairman.

The commission, the Justice Department and the President's Office of Science and Technology are cosponsoring the conference in affiliation with the National Security Industrial Association.

The association is a nonprofit organization of more than 400 American firms that supply goods and services to the Defense Department and other government agencies.

Designers of the conference up-to-date thinking yet hope it will produce the most achieved in the efforts against law breakers.
